same address, and Antonio Brzuski, of 1334 Indiana Avenue.

Mrs. Morris alleges immoral remarks were made against her January 21, 1930, in the presence of many persons by the Dzimanska woman. They were made in Polish, she asserts, and she is "held in great disrepute and public scorn and she

U. S. WILL AUCTION BROOKLAWN HOLDING

Trenton Times 10/17/31

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP).—The United States Shipping Board announced today ten Government-owned properties at Brooklawn, N. J., near Camden, would be sold at auction.

The Shipping Board is disposing of its property in that town so that several hundred parcels may be placed in private hands and returned to the tax lists. The town was built during the war for shipbuilders in Camden and Gloucester.

Other auctions would be held, the Board said, until the Government property has been disposed of. The Government owns 70 pieces of property and 262 mortgages.

Representative Wolverton, of Camden, urged sale of the property last Spring when it was found that depleted town revenues threatened reopening of the schools.

FINED $500 FOR STILL OPERATION

Trenton Times 10/16/31

Salvatore Sanatara, of Trenton, who was arrested more than two years ago on the Hiller Farm, Trenton Junction, and charged with unlawful operation of a still, was fined $500 by Judge Bourquin in Federal Court today.

"This is an old case, a very old case," commentted the court. "An accused person has a right to a speedy trial. I've been doing the best I can do. But time mitigates all things. $500 fine."

Stephen Innocenci, also of Trenton, who was arrested at the same time, did not appear to plead. State Police reported that a 500-gallon still was seized, together with 30,000 gallons of mash.

Sanatara said that he had been employed by "a man from Trenton" to fix a pump on the property. He had been working there two days when arrested, he explained.

Bench warrants were issued for Anthony Loby and Steven Innocenzi, of Trenton, who failed to appear to answer charges of liquor law violations

Martin Kaczor, of Yardville, and Antonio Zappi, of 522 Roebling Avenue, Trenton, pleaded not guilty to charges of manufacturing and possessing liquor.

John Luvendore and Adam Carlow, of R. F. D. No. 2, Hightstown, also pleaded not guilty to liquor law violations.

THIS IS THE E

Trenton Times

The final murmur, the ing echo of the famed S Howey case, in which Jud
Clark ruled that the 18
ment was illegal, was hea
eral Court today by Judge

The automobile, in whi was transported by Sprague and William J. ordered forfeited to the
"An ignominious end," Frederick M. P. Pearse,
the two men, as he walk

ases Are Disp
ourquin in 4

ana jurist, ersey Fed-
the booze
ion, today endants in ing all de-guilty and ial all who n, the vis-
the cus-individual

hundred and twent
and imprisonment
a bench warrant i higher up."

James A. Miller, c operated a bar in a
a brief plea throug

"He is out of t
honor," said the la

"R-m-m-ph;" sn
"Stayed in until c
Might as well ha first burglary. An
Th

usi

Store Hou

TE ST

collect almost before they
of what had happened.

"Pleads guilty? Usual sa
He was what—bartender?"
snapped the queries rapi