

COLUMBUS INN AND HOTEL UNDER FIRE

United States Attorney Forman has filed padlocking proceedings against the Columbus Inn, Columbus, and the "Wolcott Hotel," Main Street, Freehold, for alleged violations of liquor laws. They were included among 12 actions against establishments throughout the State.

TRENTONIAN GETS 45-DAY JAIL TERM

Frank Musterd, of Mead Street, Trenton, today was sentenced to serve 45 days in jail by Judge Avis in the United States District Court for liquor law violations.

Nicholas Tolena, of Bond Street, who was arrested with Musterd when agents raided a still in Hamilton Township, December, last, was placed on probation for two years.

Mary Rue, of Trenton Heights, also implicated in the case, was dismissed from custody.

The raid took place on the Old Rayner Farm, East Trenton Heights, after agents had detected the odor of alcohol. A large still and equipment was confiscated.

William Tansky, Jr., of 1903 South Sixth Street, Camden, a war veteran, who had served three enlistments, was sentenced to serve 10 days in jail and to pay a fine of $100.

Ernest S. Glickman, made an eloquent plea for leniency, declaring that Tansky had been disabled in government action during the World War and that he was now in poor health.

A bench warrant was ordered issued for Alexander Biharry, Burlington, who failed to appear to answer charges of manufacturing and possession of liquor.

John Weckerly, of Cahold, $135,000, and Somerville, $135,000, were sentenced to 30 days in the Atlantic County Jail.

Mays Landing, for possession of beer, while Alexander Scheurle, of Vaux Hall, Union County, was sent to the Union County Jail, Elizabeth, for 45 days, and a fine of $300 imposed.

STAGE RAID HERE

Liquor Seized As Door Is Forced at 354 North Clinton Avenue

Three Federal prohibition agents from the Camden district late yesterday staged a raid at 354 North Clinton Avenue here, seizing an assortment of alleged liquors and the possession of

THREE IN FIELD FOR SELECTION AS U. S. JUDGE

Bar Backing Aids Forman, MacLeod and Conlon Active at Washington

APPROVAL OF BILL REGARDED AS SURE

(Washington Bureau of the Times) WASHINGTON, April 9.—Belief, which is general here, that Congress will sanction appointment of a fourth Federal judge for the State of New Jersey, has prompted two active candidates for the post to come to the Capitol to advance their interests, while the campaign of a third is off to a flying start with the indorsement of the Mercer County Bar Association in his favor.

Alexander M. MacLeod, of Paterson, Republican county chairman, who is known to have influential support for the judgeship, is here, as is also Attorney Bruce Conlon, of Westfield, a prominent member of the New Jersey bar.

Support of the Mercer County association was given the candidacy of Phillip Forman, United States District Attorney at Trenton. Resolutions to that effect have been transmitted to all Republican members of the New Jersey delegation in Congress.

Attorneys MacLeod and Conlon already have conferred with some members of the delegation and plan to see the others before returning to their homes. District Attorney Forman has not made personal bid for support to date.

The bills to create the judgeship were introduced early in the session by Senator Hamilton F. Kean, of Elizabeth, and Representative Randolph Perkins, of Woodcliff Lake. The House bill has been reported favorably by the committee on judiciary and has been placed on the calendar for action. Favorable report on the Senate bill is said to be assured.

Congressman Perkins has been polling Congress unofficially for several weeks and has not yet encountered a potential opposition vote, he has stated.

More than 10 years ago, authorization was given for appointment of a fourth Federal judge due to the congested condition of the New Jersey court dockets, but the bill as drawn made no provision for continuing the position after the life of the incumbent, the late Judge Runyon, who was then appointed. When Judge Runyon died the judgeship went out of existence.

The rush of business has continued unabated and the New Jersey bar, supported by the Federal Bar Association of New York, Connecticut and New Jersey, launched a movement, which, its sponsors emphasize, is not the addition of a position that did not exist heretofore, but is merely a restoration of the bench to its former numerical strength.

The judges have been kept busy with civil matters, allowing little or no time for the trial of persons who have been indicted on the criminal side, according to Congressman Perkins.

That should be some time January 1, 1933, when all contents of the old building transferred to the handsome structure at East State and Streets, which is now nearing completion.

It is expected that the new building is richly decorated with mahogany. Whether the Government will sell this valuable wood or include it in the whole building is not known.

While sitting in this office, the average person does not realize that these sky-lights, are more files. It is necessary to climb a ladder to the fourth floor, where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

NEW DRY POLICY OF CONFISCATION

PHILADELPHIA, April 9 (AP).—Commander John D. Pennington, prohibition administrator for the third area, has announced a new policy of confiscation of furnishings in raids on alleged speak-easies.

Following a raid on the Hudson Cafe in Camden, in which furnishings and fixtures valued at $10,000 were seized, Commander Pennington said yesterday Federal officers "intend to do the same hereafter to every flagrant violator in this area."

"The city officials do not seem anxious to do anything about it," Pennington declared, "so it is up to us to keep these places closed."

EIGHT SUSPECTED "SPEAKIES" RAIDED

CAMDEN, N. J., April 12 (AP).—Eight alleged speak-easies were closed today as the result of a series of raids by Federal prohibition agents. Following two weeks of investigation the agents entered the places at night, arrested one or more persons each and seized quantities of beer and whiskey.

S. Court to Have 'School' for Jurors

MARK NEWS

Judge Clark So Decides After Explanation of Many Essex Names on Panel

A "school" for jurors will be conducted this summer in Federal Court, it was decided this afternoon between Federal Judge Clark and Thomas F. Halpin, jury clerk. A list of 1,000 men will be selected and these men will be examined for their fitness as jurors. From those remaining on the list the jury lists will be compiled.

This decision was reached when Halpin and Benjamin F. Havens of Trenton, chief deputy clerk of Federal Court, were summoned before Judge Clark to explain the presence of unusually large number of Essex County residents on the current federal petit jury panel.

Havens explained that in order to obtain a new jury list he had asked the jury commissioners of the seven northern counties of the state to furnish lists. Only Essex and Passaic counties responded, he said, and they were used.

Judge Clark directed Havens to obtain a new list immediately, so that new panel may be drawn tomorrow. Havens will use some names from the Essex and Passaic lists, with some names filed at Trenton of jurors who had served in previous years.

The action of the court came after panel of sixty-five names had been called for a trial scheduled to begin today. Forty-two of the sixty-five members were from Essex.

The suit is by Charles Ruthowski of Bayonne against the Phoenix Insurance Company and other companies. Ruthowski was represented by Joseph Lieblich of Paterson and the insurance companies by Arthur T. Vanderbilt, who is Essex County counsel.

Lieblich objected to holding the trial in Newark because the jury panel was predominantly from Essex County and his opposing counsel was county counsel. Vanderbilt immediately suggested that the trial be held in Trenton as it was postponed with that plan in mind.

The balance of the panel was from Union and Hudson counties. After ordering those who drew the panel to appear, Judge Clark directed Charles E. Jaeckel, deputy clerk of the city branch for Newark, to discharge most of the panel, retaining a dozen or more from all three counties.

JERSEY TOUGHEST, SAYS DRY CHIEF

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP).—Amos W. W. Woodcock, Federal prohibition director, lists New Jersey as the most difficult State in which to enforce the dry law and North Carolina and Michigan as the easiest.

"We have more difficulty in the State of New Jersey than in any other," he said yesterday in answer to questions, because grand juries are enjoined from finding indictments against violators. Local authorities in North Carolina give "excellent cooperation," he added, and 99 out of every 100 liquor cases in Western Michigan result in convictions.

PHILLIP FORMAN

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP).—Resolution of the Mercer County Bar Association, urging appointment of Phillip Forman, United States attorney for New Jersey, to the federal bench, has been received by members of Congress from the state.

Forman is a candidate for the new federal judgeship proposed for New Jersey in bills before the House and Senate. He would succeed the late William N. Runyon of Plainfield.

The resolution extolled Forman's activities as United States attorney. He was characterized as an "alert, forceful and effective trial judge in the interests of the government."

Other candidates for the judgeship include Alexander McLeod, Passaic County Republican Committee chairman; Alan Bruce Conlin of Westfield; and Harlan Besson of Hudson county.

Delaney nor Weinberger replied to all queries as to his plans since he disappeared home at 22 Brinkerhoff street, on the eve of trial for tax evasion in 1927.

At that time, the jury came to an agreement in which it was rumored Delaney nor process servers who subpoenaed him as a witness in the little cerehitch in the little cere-the commissioner's of-when his secretary in the purposes of the at Mr. Delaney's occupation was. There was an embarrassed pause. Then Delaney, Weinberger, and three or four bondsmen went into a huddle, and emerged with the information that Mr. Delaney has as his occupation "real estate."

"Business agent" and "broker" were discarded by the little group in arriving at the decision.

In 1927, the government indictment was. There was an embarrassed pause. Then Delaney, Weinberger, and three or four bondsmen went into a huddle, and emerged with the information that Mr. Delaney has as his occupation "real estate."

"Business agent" and "broker" were discarded by the little group in arriving at the decision.

In 1927, the government indictment was. There was an embarrassed pause. Then Delaney, Weinberger, and three or four bondsmen went into a huddle, and emerged with the information that Mr. Delaney has as his occupation "real estate."

"Business agent" and "broker" were discarded by the little group in arriving at the decision.

In 1927, the government indictment was. There was an embarrassed pause. Then Delaney, Weinberger, and three or four bondsmen went into a huddle, and emerged with the information that Mr. Delaney has as his occupation "real estate."

"Business agent" and "broker" were discarded by the little group in arriving at the decision.

In 1927, the government indictment was. There was an embarrassed pause. Then Delaney, Weinberger, and three or four bondsmen went into a huddle, and emerged with the information that Mr. Delaney has as his occupation "real estate."

"Business agent" and "broker" were discarded by the little group in arriving at the decision.

In 1927, the government indictment was. There was an embarrassed pause. Then Delaney, Weinberger, and three or four bondsmen went into a huddle, and emerged with the information that Mr. Delaney has as his occupation "real estate."

"Business agent" and "broker" were discarded by the little group in arriving at the decision.

In 1927, the government indictment was. There was an embarrassed pause. Then Delaney, Weinberger, and three or four bondsmen went into a huddle, and emerged with the information that Mr. Delaney has as his occupation "real estate."

"Business agent" and "broker" were discarded by the little group in arriving at the decision.

In 1927, the government indictment was. There was an embarrassed pause. Then Delaney, Weinberger, and three or four bondsmen went into a huddle, and emerged with the information that Mr. Delaney has as his occupation "real estate."

DELAY OFFICES

APRIL 7 (AP).—The Federal building here might be curbed with a report by Treasury Mills that department could be delayed at the expense of or 275, of the 302 Mills advised the in New Jersey, to ere listed as being the judgeship, is here, as is also Attorney Bruce Conlon, of Westfield, a prominent member of the New Jersey bar.

Support of the Mercer County association was given the candidacy of Phillip Forman, United States District Attorney at Trenton. Resolutions to that effect have been transmitted to all Republican members of the New Jersey delegation in Congress.

Attorneys MacLeod and Conlon already have conferred with some members of the delegation and plan to see the others before returning to their homes. District Attorney Forman has not made personal bid for support to date.

The bills to create the judgeship were introduced early in the session by Senator Hamilton F. Kean, of Elizabeth, and Representative Randolph Perkins, of Woodcliff Lake. The House bill has been reported favorably by the committee on judiciary and has been placed on the calendar for action. Favorable report on the Senate bill is said to be assured.

Congressman Perkins has been polling Congress unofficially for several weeks and has not yet encountered a potential opposition vote, he has stated.

More than 10 years ago, authorization was given for appointment of a fourth Federal judge due to the congested condition of the New Jersey court dockets, but the bill as drawn made no provision for continuing the position after the life of the incumbent, the late Judge Runyon, who was then appointed. When Judge Runyon died the judgeship went out of existence.

The rush of business has continued unabated and the New Jersey bar, supported by the Federal Bar Association of New York, Connecticut and New Jersey, launched a movement, which, its sponsors emphasize, is not the addition of a position that did not exist heretofore, but is merely a restoration of the bench to its former numerical strength.

The judges have been kept busy with civil matters, allowing little or no time for the trial of persons who have been indicted on the criminal side, according to Congressman Perkins.

That should be some time January 1, 1933, when all contents of the old building transferred to the handsome structure at East State and Streets, which is now nearing completion.

It is expected that the new building is richly decorated with mahogany. Whether the Government will sell this valuable wood or include it in the whole building is not known.

While sitting in this office, the average person does not realize that these sky-lights, are more files. It is necessary to climb a ladder to the fourth floor, where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

BRANDLE I FACES T

NEWARK, N. J. F. Delaney, aide Jersey City unit released in $20,0 States Commission yesterday on charging false income 1927 to 1930, in Delaney had March, 1931, w from his home Avenue, Teaner Brandle's trial appeared in P as mysteriously

The bills to create the judgeship were introduced early in the session by Senator Hamilton F. Kean, of Elizabeth, and Representative Randolph Perkins, of Woodcliff Lake. The House bill has been reported favorably by the committee on judiciary and has been placed on the calendar for action. Favorable report on the Senate bill is said to be assured.

Congressman Perkins has been polling Congress unofficially for several weeks and has not yet encountered a potential opposition vote, he has stated.

More than 10 years ago, authorization was given for appointment of a fourth Federal judge due to the congested condition of the New Jersey court dockets, but the bill as drawn made no provision for continuing the position after the life of the incumbent, the late Judge Runyon, who was then appointed. When Judge Runyon died the judgeship went out of existence.

The rush of business has continued unabated and the New Jersey bar, supported by the Federal Bar Association of New York, Connecticut and New Jersey, launched a movement, which, its sponsors emphasize, is not the addition of a position that did not exist heretofore, but is merely a restoration of the bench to its former numerical strength.

The judges have been kept busy with civil matters, allowing little or no time for the trial of persons who have been indicted on the criminal side, according to Congressman Perkins.

That should be some time January 1, 1933, when all contents of the old building transferred to the handsome structure at East State and Streets, which is now nearing completion.

It is expected that the new building is richly decorated with mahogany. Whether the Government will sell this valuable wood or include it in the whole building is not known.

While sitting in this office, the average person does not realize that these sky-lights, are more files. It is necessary to climb a ladder to the fourth floor, where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Old Post Office Sold at Highest Bid After New Structure Is Occupied January

Trenton's old Post Office building, State and Montgomery Streets, no longer adequate to care for the heavy increase of business, will be knocked down to the highest bidder by the United States Treasury Department—after the new building has been occupied.

That should be some time January 1, 1933, when all contents of the old building transferred to the handsome structure at East State and Streets, which is now nearing completion.

It is expected that the new building is richly decorated with mahogany. Whether the Government will sell this valuable wood or include it in the whole building is not known.

While sitting in this office, the average person does not realize that these sky-lights, are more files. It is necessary to climb a ladder to the fourth floor, where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

Even then he is not out He must walk on a system laid across the sky-lighting where the various documents are laid across the sky-lighting. A misstep and he would find himself in the prosecutive attorney, down the court room.

(Continued on Page 2)

Delaney made no tax return although he had a taxable income of $16,545, earned as business agent for the Hudson County Ironworkers' Union, Local 45, of which Brandle was president.

$35.48 CALLED RETURN

The next year, with his tax rights fully totaling $9,607.53, Delaney made a return of only $35.48, it is charged; while in 1929 he paid $31.40 when he should have paid $10,181.39, according to the government's way of thinking. A separate indictment handed down by the Federal Grand Jury here in January, 1931 charges Delaney paid $1,203 less than was due the government through the tax.

Out on bail, Delaney is now free until District Attorney Forman sees fit to summon him either for examination or trial.

Brandle pleaded guilty to the tax evasions before Federal Judge Avis in Trenton 10 days ago, just as a second trial was about to begin. He was assessed fines and delinquent tax penalties, but was let off without a jail sentence by agreement.

Delaney's appearance led to the opinion that a similar agreement had been made in his case.

Brandle pleaded guilty to the tax evasions before Federal Judge Avis in Trenton 10 days ago, just as a second trial was about to begin. He was assessed fines and delinquent tax penalties, but was let off without a jail sentence by agreement.

Delaney's appearance led to the opinion that a similar agreement had been made in his case.

Brandle pleaded guilty to the tax evasions before Federal Judge Avis in Trenton 10 days ago, just as a second trial was about to begin. He was assessed fines and delinquent tax penalties, but was let off without a jail sentence by agreement.